I. Introduction

Located in Asia, Taiwan is an important transportation hub that makes it convenient to conduct its business with surrounding countries and to create remarkable performance. Besides, with cultural and lingual similarity, Taiwan is actively expanding its business to Mainland China with extraordinary results that make Taiwan a springboard for other countries to learn experiences before entering into the Mainland Chinese market.

Founded in 1899, National Taichung University of Education (NTCU) has been witnessing the social and economic development of Taiwan over decades. The core values of NTCU, “Refinement, Creativity, and New Prospect,” act as guiding principles to lead our faculty members to educate our students to be a “whole person”. Currently, NTCU is composed of four colleges, including College of Education, College of Humanities, College of Sciences, and College of Management. These academic institutes aim to foster international students with outstanding performance in pursuit of advanced study in NTCU.

The IMBA program at the NTCU aims to educate professionals with advanced international business management capabilities, i.e., global perspectives, advanced profession, outstanding leadership, and international communication skills. All of the faculty members in this IMBA program received their PhD degrees from well-known universities in the world, and possess extensive experience in executive teaching and consulting. The faculty members, specializing in various business fields, can provide interactive, top-quality and diverse learning experiences to students. The most unique feature of this IMBA program is that it integrates the fields of tourism and recreation management, cultural creativity industry management, and higher education institution management in addition to international business management.

The core courses of IMBA focus on the economic and business development in the Asia-pacific region. Through the comprehensive curriculum design and field trips to visit well-known domestic and international enterprises, students will broaden their international scope and reinforce their strategic thinking.

Specifically, we expect our graduate students to possess the profession and specialty in the fields of Operations Management, Marketing Management, Human Resource Management, Financial Management, and Technology Management. Having finished the studying in this program, the alumni may expand their career spectrum from Taiwan to East Asia, and to posit themselves as management leaders in the contemporary global business.
